Rains Flood Wide Area

Worst Storm in 72 Years Wrecks Havoc in Area

Rural Areas Hit By Severe Storm

By ANNE RODGER

Flood waters left in the wake of last Friday night's storm still stand in many areas. Felled trees remain as a grim reminder of Chicagoland's worst storm in 72 years. Lasting seven hours, the storm was accompanied by torrential rains, thunder and lightning and raged from Joliet to Wheaton, extending to Indiana.

While some suburbs were hit worse than others, none emerged unscathed.

Several people died as a result of the storm. Richard Campbell, 35, of New Lenox, was found unconscious in his neighbor's yard. Efforts to revive him failed and he was pronounced dead at Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, where he was taken. The coroner listed cause of death as a heart attack combined with water in the lungs.

Albert M. Cheney, 63, of Joliet, was killed in a crash caused by skidding on a rain-slicked pavement.

Theodore Vielinski, 41, of Markham, suffered a fatal heart attack when lightning struck a tree across the street from his home.

Thomas Dujka, 58, of 13855 S. Leclair ave., Bremen township, was injured when the Cortland street bridge of the Milwaukee railroad was knocked into the Chicago river when a coal barge tore loose from its mooring and crashed into it. Dujka and another bridgetender in the control shack crawled onto the barge from the shack and were rescued by firemen.

Theatre Hit

There were 48 persons injured when high winds collapsed Drury Lane summer theater's canvas tent, in Evergreen Park, during the height of the storm.

Several families in Mokena were evacuated during the storm.

Many travelers on route 45 were confused by detour signs when water under the Rock Island viaduct rose to 12 feet. They ended up in Mokena and had to be housed in the Park (Continued to page 12)

The rural area was hard hit by the storm which hit over a large area last Friday night and Saturday morning.

At the Lloyd Campbell farm, just north of Marley, 30 sheep were swept down Marley Creek and drowned. They were part of a flock of 50 sheep in the pasture, which at the highest point was under three feet of water during the height of the storm.

The Marley Creek overflowed, blocking the road at the west entrance to Marley.

The Wabash track was washed out between Wolf rd. and 179th st., south of route 6, by the rushing flood waters.

The most serious loss to farmers in the flooded areas is the loss of valuable top soil, carried away by the flood. Small grain was beaten down to the ground and all crops under water suffered severe damage.

A large tree was blown across Nebraska st. in Frankfort, almost smashing the Frank Mark home. Many basements, which had never flooded before, had several feet of water, when drainage systems were unable to handle the enormous water load.

Wind Up Fiesta with Luncheon and Prizes

Mrs. Albert Wiese is in charge of a baked ham plate lunch to be served in the St. Mary's church hall at Mokena, Sunday July 21, the final day of St. Mary's Fiesta. Serving will start at 2 p. m. and continue thru the early evening hours.

A Ford Custom Tudor sedan will be given as well as a portable television set.

The public is invited to have luncheon or supper or both at St. Mary's and help wind up the Fiesta in a whirl of excitement and pleasure.

Families Evacuated In Mokena When Storm Waters Flood Homes

The most severely flooded area in Mokena during the big storm last Friday night, was in the vicinity south of Hickory Creek, where several families were evacuated.

An initial attempt to rescue flood-bound victims failed when the row boat manned by Ed ward Hentsch capsized. A boat furnished by William Kasper was used by Jack Nordsell and volunteers to evacuate families.

The Robert Karlson family, of Elmwood st., were the first to evacuate their home in Mokena when waters reached a dangerously high level. They piled furniture and belongings out of water's reach as far as possible and went to Joliet.

All of the land in the area south of the creek and east of Wolf rd. was under water.

Other evacuees were the Paul E. Charles family. Water reached the first floor of their home, located directly south of the creek.

The home of Dr. E. G. McMahon suffered damage amounting to $1500. His car was in the garage located under the house, which became flooded. He sustained other losses when the basement of the house also flooded.

Walls Collapse

The basement walls of the Michael Diagelo home, in the Norval Robinson subdivision, collapsed, causing the floor to cave in. The Diagelos' eight-year old son, screamed in fright when the collapsing roar awakened him.

The family, who had just moved here from Chicago ten days ago, were taken to the home of Mokena mayor, James Marti.

Repairs are now being made (Continued to Page 12)

NOT SEASIDE RESORT—This scene in New Lenox taken after the rains had ceased last Saturday and the storm had died down, resembles a seaside resort after the tide has come in. The New Lenox Lumber Company was entirely surrounded by water, which swamped the interior rising to a height of three feet. Lumber stocks were swirled out of the building and floated down stream. It was the heaviest flooding the town had ever experienced. New Lenox was hit hard by the worst storm in 72 years which covered the entire Chicago area.

Mokena Officials Ask Signers For Sewer Service; Bond Houses Require 350 Local Applications

Letters are being sent out to the home owners of Mokena asking them to make formal application for connection with the proposed sewer system for the village.

The request is made at the instance of the investment houses that will sell the bonds necessary to finance the improvement. The bond houses are asking Mokena officials to furnish them with 350 signed applications for sewer service.

The letter also states that while the number asking service is set at 350 by the bond companies, the sewer, when installed, must be used by all residents. Use of the sewer is a public health measure, householders were informed, and its use is therefore mandatory.

"Your cooperation, and that of your neighbor, is needed to secure a federal grant of $69,308 of tax money which you already have paid to the federal government," the letter reads in part. For once we have a chance to keep some of our federal tax money—really close to home. Let's not lose it!"

Federal Aid

The letter also explains that this federal grant represents 30% of the cost of the sewage treatment plant, intercepting sewer, force main and lift station.

"After considering means of financing the system," a paragraph reads, "your village board of trustees, as a practical and fair method chose financing by water and sewer revenue bonds (in addition to $100,000 in general obligation bonds approved by vote of the citizens last December) whereby the cost of the system will be paid by each user in proportion to the amount of his use.

"Rates for the service will be established for both residential and commercial use and will be no higher than is necessary to pay the cost of operation and to retire the bonds, requiring a probable average charge of $6.90 (Continued to page 12)

Families Evacuated At Lincoln Estates

Lincoln Estates, east of Frankfort on route 30, came in for a good share of storm trouble.

River road which runs south from route 30 for several blocks, and along side of Hickory creek was completely under water.

The homes at the southern end of the street suffered most. Water reached the window sills in the first floor of the home of Lt. Col. Frank Gray. Col. Gray, a helicopter pilot for the army working out of the Lansing, Ill., airport, left at midnight with his wife and three children when they saw the water was becoming a menace.

The Frank Abbots and Robert Ruckers also left their home because of the high water. They also live on River road. The Anton Nagels, Rudy Urbanos, the Goddards nor the Charles Jones had to leave their homes, altho the car of the latter was filled with water to the door handles.

The Charles Jones' who raise chickens on a commercial scale, lost 150 seven week old chickens in the high water of two weeks ago.

During the storm of last Saturday morning, the force of water in the creek at River road washed away the soil around a large tree, causing it to fall, landing across the creek. This created a dam which spread the water in a larger and deeper area around the homes in that locality.

COOPER REUNION

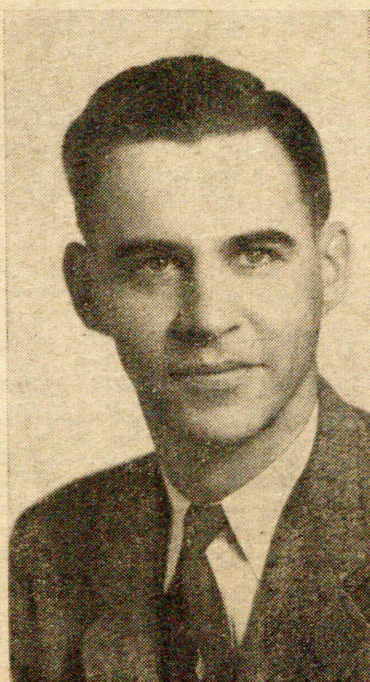

The annual Cooper family reunion will be held Sunday, July 28 at the Lester Sayer's farm home on Wolf road and 159th street.

A pot luck dinner will be served at 12:30.

university medical school. In 1951 he was granted his M.D. degree. Dr. Vosika served his internship at St. Joseph's hospital in Omaha after which he practiced in Iowa for five years.

During World War II, Dr. Vosika served as a pilot in the U.S.A.A.F.

Mrs. Vosika is a registered nurse, having graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Nursing.

Dr. Vosika and family are residing in Orland Park. The Vosikas have four children, Richard, 11; Karen, 9; Christine, 6 and Cheryl 4½.

New Lenox Man Is Victim Of Recent Flood

One life was lost during the flood at New Lenox early Saturday morning.

When Richard Campbell, 35, 404 Root st., north of Hickory creek in New Lenox noticed the water rising around his home about 4 a.m., he moved his family into their car and drove in to the yard of his next door neighbor, Herman Torrence, which is on higher ground. All remained in the car for an hour and a half.

About 5:30 a.m. Mr. Campbell left the car to investigate conditions at their home. About that time, the Torrence family awakened and noticed the Campbell car and occupants in their yard and went to them to see what was the trouble. They at once invited the Campbells in for breakfast and Mr. Torrence went to the Campbell home to get Mr. Campbell. On his way he found the body of Mr. Campbell lying in some water in a corner of the Torrence yard. Artificial respiration was administered at once, a doctor and the inhalator squad of Mokena was called. The doctor had Mr. Campbell removed to Silver Cross hospital where he was pronounced dead.

At the inquest, conducted by Coroner Willard Blood, it was stated that death was due to a combination of a heart attack and inhaling some water following the attack.

Mr. Campbell, who was a signal maintenance man for the Rock Island railroad, was born Oct. 22, 1921 in Cedar Rapids, Ia. He and his family moved to New Lenox six years ago.

Surviving beside his widow, the former Rhea Reynolds, are two daughters, Colleen, 8, and Donna 2; his mother, Mrs. Edna F. Campbell, and a sister, Mrs. Shirley J. Rich, both of Mt. Prospect, Ill., and a brother, Robert C. Campbell, Bartlett, Ill.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Blood and Grant funeral home, Joliet, with the Rev. George W. Martin, pastor of the New Lenox Methodist church officiating. Burial was made in Maplewood cemetery, New Lenox.

Lincoln-Way High To Have Exhibit At State Fair

The theme for the Lincoln-Way exhibit at the state fair will be the "enrichment program". This exhibit will stress the special projects and skills which are specifically designed to make the school program more informative and worthwhile for the students. The fair this year will be from August 9-18, and the exhibits must be in place in the Exposition building and the Illinois state fairgrounds in Springfield by Thursday, Aug. 8.

Neil Hardy, head of the science and mathematics department, and Earl Dieken, curriculum director, have been assembling material which will depict the various types of learning activities carried on during the year. Kenneth Kinney is also assisting with the arrangements of the items.

The areas of the curriculum which are to be included in the exhibit are: Business Education, Margaret Gentry; Fine Arts, Mr. Kinney; Foreign Language, Eunice Harra; Homemaking, Mrs. Mildred Foster and Miss Ann Walker; Industrial Education, Joseph Kruzich; Language Arts, Mrs. Marry Whitaker; Mathematics, Mrs. Della Hussey; Physical Science, Mr. Hardy; Social Studies, Mr. Dieken and Jonas Lashmet; History, Kevin McGiven; Guidance, Dr. Ralph Wright and Mrs. Alice Gorman. The display by Mr. Kruzich and his industrial arts group will also represent the state-wide Industrial Arts clubs.

Another feature of the exhibit is a brief picture and the development of the school and grounds which will include articles and snapshots of the development of the School for Tomorrow.

These exhibits contain practically every medium of student communication such as drawing, pictures, writings, wood projects, metalwork, and ceramic and plastic materials.

When you're in Springfield for the fair this year, be sure to visit Lincoln-Way's booths.

Donna Heinecke At FHA Conclave For Lincoln-Way

Donna Heinecke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Heinecke, Mokena, has been selected by the Lincoln-Way chapter of Future Homemakers of America as a delegate to its 17th annual state leadership conference at East Bay Camp, Lake Bloomington, Ill. The conference began Monday and will end tomorrow, July 26.

Donna is a junior at Lincoln-Way and president of her FHA chapter. Her special responsibility at the conference includes serving as a member of the guides committee.

The Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of high school girls participating in homemaking courses. The Illinois Association has a membership of more than 29,000, at least 500 delegates will attend the conference.

"Participation Strengthens" is the theme for the five-day meeting. Leadership training and local chapter development will be stressed.

Conference leader for the 1957 session will be Hugh E. Muncy, Executive vice president, Education Division, Illinois Retail Merchants Association, Chicago.

"How come?" I asked. "Do you think the rate is too high?"

"No, not exactly," Jim replied, "but you see I can gain about 30 to 40 per cent coverage without paying even one cent in premium."

"Well," Jim said, "I'm in a fairly high income tax bracket. As you know, the government permits uninsured property losses to be deducted in making tax returns. So, if I have a jewelry loss, I'll pay less tax. In effect, this will give me partial coverage."

"That's a beautiful theory," I replied with a grin. "The only fault I can find with it is that personal jewelry losses are not deductible. The government excluded those."

Jim looked surprised, then said, "By what mental gymnastics did the Internal Revenue Department decide it could draw there line there?"

"I frankly don't know, Jim. But I do know you'll have to buy that policy if you want coverage—partial or otherwise."

"You've got me," Jim said with a smile, "go ahead and issue it."

If you have a substantial investment in jewelry, let us explain the broad Jewelry Floater coverage to you. Okay?

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hulbrunn

Geraldine Schindler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Schindler of Glasgow, Montana, became the bride of A2c Ronald Heilbrunn, son of Mrs. Clifford Pommering, of Mokena last month.

The wedding was held in the First Lutheran church, of Glasgow. The Rev. Nels Carlson performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white ballerina length gown of nylon lace and net. Her fingertip veil of tulle was decorated with tiny pearls, and she carried a white Bible covered with pink roses and white carnations.

Dressed in similar gowns, the bridesmaids, Leah Jo Robinson and Marlene Lambert, carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Susan Schindler, young sister

Alc Thomas Barnhart was best man. Airmen John Lauer and Clyde Thompson were his other attendants. Ushering were Airmen William Johnson and Jack Carlson.

Assisting at the reception in the church dining room were Sharon Schindler, Mrs. Lauer, Mrs. Barnhart, Mary Ellen Gucker, Carolyn Anderson, Colleen Mullen and Karen Mullen.

After a wedding trip, the couple is living in Glasgow. They will move to Mokena when he has completed his service at the Opheim Air Force base.

Mrs. Heilbrunn is a spring graduate of Glasgow high school and is employed at the Ben Franklin store. He completed high school in Chicago before entering the air force.

Bridal Shower for Beverly Lauffer Held In Mokena Sunday

Mesdames Lucille Rahm, Eleanor Bormet, June Lauffer and Marie Schilling, aunts and grandmother of Miss Beverly Lauffer of Mokena, entertained for her at a miscellaneous bridal shower. It was held in the VFW hall in Mokena Sunday afternoon July 14, with 65 present.

The afternoon was spent visiting, followed which a two course luncheon was served. A bridal cake centered the serving table which was decorated in the bride's favorite pastel colors.

Guests came from Tinley Park, Mokena, Frankfort, Blue Island, Midlothian, Chicago Heights, Dundee, Homewood, Peotone and Orland Park.

Miss Lauffer and Sgt. William F. Haas Jr., of Tinley Park will be married at services held in the Mokena United church, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 3 at 4 p.m.

4-H Achievement Meeting in Tinley Church July 12

The Helping Hands 4-H club held their annual achievement meeting in the social hall of the Methodist church, Friday, July 12. In spite of the threatening weather, a goodly number of the girls friends and families gathered to see their work for the year.

Mrs. Bauman, the leader, welcomed the group after which all joined in the pledge to the American flag and 4H flag. Mrs. George Smith, president of the Bremen Home Bureau, which sponsors the group, was introduced. A summary of the year's activities was given; Donna Martin gave the treasurer's report; Dorothy Stelter reported on the Party-A-Month project.

Demonstrations, which are a very important part in 4H club work, also played an important role in the evening's program. Louise Bettenhausen made a fruit salad; Sharon Anast, an egg nog and Muryeen Phillippo showed how to make a cottage cheese and fruit salad. Susan Schulien entertained with a number of selections on her accordion.

Safety and Fire prevention, has been one of the activities in which the girls participated this year. A skit, "It Happened One Day at a Firebug-Litterbug Convention" was presented. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served.

Projects were exhibited at the County 4H Achievement day in Homewood July 15. The girls were also in the Revue of Clubs held at the Homewood theater the same afternoon.

ing from 7 to 9 pm. There was dancing to recorded music in the garage and refreshments were served on the breezeway. for the special occasion and each Mrs. Niebrugge baked a cake boy contributed towards the refreshments and entertainment. The members are, Bruce Niebrugge, president; Donald Niebrugge, Mike and John McBride, Norman Hegyi, Charles Haris and Mark Von See. The young ladies who attended the party were Janine Nelson, Barbara Weiss, Karen and Carol Von See.

Mrs. William Donohue was awarded a Big Boy barbecue set at the Builders Tee last Saturday evening at the Silver Lake Golf course. We'll be watching for your smoke now, Bill!

About $173 million dollars' worth of chemicals will be needed to compound the estimated 594 million gallons of lubricating oils sold this year.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

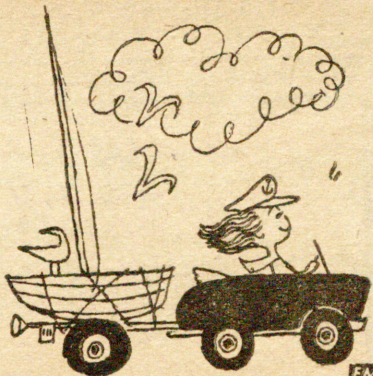

Women's Travel Authority

Boat Trailers

For the boat owners who want to cart their craft when they motor about the country, here's a word on trailers:

Before buying, make sure it's the right type to handle your boat's size and weight. Look for ease of loading and unloading; some trailers can be handled by one person.

Prices vary according to size and model. You can get a fully-equipped trailer (for a 12' boat) for about $115. The largest model in this line handles 26 footers, up to 5500 pounds - one man loading.

When towing, fasten the boat securely to prevent damage. Use two tail lights. Some states require turning signals; they're especially important if the boat hides those on the car.

Some states require yellow marker lights on the side of the trailer. They are a good safety precaution - especially for night driving.

Have the boat's gas tanks empty when motoring. A boat cover is a good idea, too. A heavy rain can put enough water in the boat to affect trailer balance and car handling. Arched ribs will bow the cover to shed the rain.

You'll need a license plate. Prices vary according to the weight the trailer will carry. Boat trailers, properly licensed, are legal in all states, and may be driven into Canada and Mexico.

Safe motoring and pleasant sailing!

Cool Refreshments for Summer

Nothing brightens up a warm summer day like colorful mid-afternoon refreshments. Whether unexpected guests drop by or it's your turn to provide snacks for the swimmers of the neighborhood, it's well to have something on hand that's a splashing hit and simple to serve.

Refreshing fruit punch and sliced devil's food sandwiches from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department make a tasty combination that's guaranteed to revive the most wilted of summertime appetites. The drink may be any iced beverage such as limeade, lemonade or one of the frozen fruit drinks now on the market. The devil's food sandwiches, two round sponge cakes held together with a creamy filling, may be served whole—one to a customer—or sliced as shown.

ORDINANCE NO. 159 An Ordinance Establishing the Office of Building Commissioner and Prescribing the Duties Thereof

BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Orland Park, Cook County, Illinois, as follows:

Section 1
BUILDING COMMISSIONER - CREATION. There is hereby created the office of Building Commissioner, an administrative office of the Village.

Section 2
BUILDING COMMISSIONER - APPOINTMENT - TERM. The Building Commissioner shall be appointed by the President and Board of Trustees, voting jointly, for a period of one year and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified. The first Building Commissioner appointed pursuant to the terms hereof shall serve until April 30, 1958 and until his successor is appointed and qualified.

Section 3
BUILDING COMMISSIONER - OATH. The Building Commissioner, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take the oath prescribed by statute.

Section 4
BUILDING COMMISSIONER - POWER - DUTIES. The Building Commissioner shall (a) have general charge and supervision of the erection, construction, alteration, repair, demolition, removal and inspection of all buildings, walls, structures, or portions thereof, and accessories thereto within the Village; (b) he shall have charge and supervision of all electrical construction, plumbing and boiler installation and the inspection thereof; (c) he shall examine all plans for building permit purposes; (d) he shall have the powers and perform the duties set forth in the building code and as shall from time to time be provided by ordinance; (e) he shall enforce the provisions of the Revised Zoning Ordinance of 1957, Village of Orland Park, and all amendments thereto.

Section 5
ENFORCEMENT - INSPECTION. The Building Commissioner shall enforce all laws and ordinances relating to buildings or zoning. He shall conduct all building, plumbing, electrical, elevator and boiler inspections and enforce the ordinances relating thereto. He may engage the services of a person or persons to assist him in making the aforementioned inspections.

Section 6
INSPECTION - RIGHT OF ENTRY. The Building Commissioner and his duly authorized agents and inspectors shall have the right to enter any building, whether completed or in process of construction, alteration or repair, for the purpose of determining whether the same is being constructed, altered, repaired or used in accordance with law and with the ordinances of the Village. Refusal by the owner or person in charge or possession of such building or structure to permit such entry shall constitute an offense punishable by a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $200.00 for each offense. Each day that such refusal shall continue shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 7
STOP ORDERS. The Building Commissioner shall have power to stop work on any building or structure when such work is being done without a permit or is being done in violation of any provision of law or of the ordinances of the Village, or of any resolution or order of the Board of Trustees. Such stop order shall specify the conditions upon which work may be permitted to proceed. Failure to obey such stop order by any person owning or in possession or charge of such building or structure shall constitute an offense punishable by a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $200.00 for each offense. Each day that such failure shall continue shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 8
REVOCATION OF PERMITS. The Building Commissioner may

revoke the permit for the erection, alteration, repair or demolition of any building or structure if the owner or other person in possession or charge of the same shall refuse to comply with the conditions of any stop order.

Section 9
COMPENSATION. The Building Commissioner shall be paid $5.00 for each application for permit examined by him.

Section 10
REPEAL. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed in so far as they conflict herewith.

Section 11
EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval and publication.

Health Director Issues Advice To Flooded Areas

Dr. John B. Hall, Cook county health director, has issued warnings and advice in the wake of last week-end's record heavy rains that flooded basements, septic tanks, and private wells.

Those in doubt of the quality of their well water should boil all water used for drinking, cooking, or dishwashing, Dr. said, "until you are sure that the well is again furnishing safe water."

Here are his suggestions to disinfect a drilled well: (1) run pump until water is clear, (2) dissolve 5 tablespoons of chloride of lime 25 per cent strength in a quart of water, (3) pour chlorine solution in well, (4) run the pump until chlorine can be smelled in the water, (5) let pump stand idle for several hours, overnight if possible, and (6) run pump until water completely free of chlorine taste or odor.

The following foodstuffs, he said, should be destroyed if wetted with flood water: fresh fruits and vegetables, foods in

Drivers Test Joliet Track This Week

Mike King Plans To Drive New Racer At Top Speed Saturday

Midget auto drivers at the Joliet Memorial Stadium will have a week to get used to the track before the 50-lap mid-season championship race is run July 27.

With rain causing a postponement in the racing last Saturday, Charles O'Day, head of Joliet midget auto racing, has decided to give the drivers an extra week to get the feel of the track.

Racing this Saturday will feature a 25-lap main event, flanked by a 15-lap semifeature, four heat races, and a handicap. Time trials are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. with the first race getting underway at 8:30 p.m.

Mike King, of Evanston, hopes to give his new Fuel Injection V-8 racer full throttle for the first time this season. King has been nursing along his new car to get the kinks out of it, and should be ready to put it to the test come Saturday.

Also on hand will be Jolietans Tony Saylor, Sam Robinson and Bernie Wunelmu; and former track champion Johnny Riva, of Chicago; as well as current point leader, George Sellery, also of Chicago.

New Lenox Sales Increase in April

New Lenox took over 21st place from Calumet Park, according to state revenue department figures on the 2.5 per cent sales tax collections. In the month of April, New Lenox received $6,736 to Calumet Park's $6,368. In March, the latter led $6,857 to $5,684.

Mokena, altho remaining in 29th place, with $4,143 from $4,002, passed Markham, which dropped from 28th to 30th, with $3,752 in April from $4,164 in March. Posen changed places with Markham, reporting $4,162 in April from $3,930 in March.

Coach Resigns From Bremen to Teach in Santa Maria, Calif.

George Wollschlaeger, baseball coach at Bremen High school, announced last week that he has accepted a teaching position in Santa Maria, Calif.

A history instructor at the high school, Wollschlaeger's new position is as a teacher, but he believes that he may also do some baseball coaching.

He and his bride, the former Susan Powers, of Des Moines, Iowa, plan to leave for the West Coast on Aug. 1.

Bremen Battlin' Braves made a good showing under his tutelage coming close to capturing the district state tournament.

The Bremen baseball team should make an even better showing next year as most of the regular team will be back, including the following boys from Tinley Park: Jerry Miller, Bob Rodger, Jerry O'Neill, Roger Hug and Dale Hartwig.

Kankakee Fair To Open Aug. 4

The annual Kankakee fair will be held August 4-9 with a western horse show on opening day and an old fashioned circus will be held in front of the grandstand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Radio artists from Radio Station WLS will complete a very fine program for Thursday afternoon and evening. Friday morning and afternoon tractor pulling and tractor rodeo contests with the final curtain on Friday night Aug. 9, being stock car races with the championship race of the 1957 county fair.

THE CAPTIVE
SUPREME COURT

The decision of the U.S. Supreme court handing an American soldier over to a foreign government for trial for an incident occurring as a result of his army service is described by the Associated Press, whose news reports are known the world over because of their unbiased and factual content, as "a major victory for the Administration."

The public's confidence in the U.S. supreme court has slipped considerably in the past several years and the decision handed down last week in the Girard case has reduced it still further. About the only rooters for the U.S. supreme court today are the Commies, the fellow travelers, the NAACP and the Administration.

It has been said by lawyers and legislators that U.S. supreme court justices have thrown aside the constitution and the law books and have gone overboard on the writing and speeches of the egg-head school, the do-gooders, the psychologists, psychiatrists and other "ologists" and "ists" that fall into the general category of head-shrinkers. After looking at the decisions of the court in the past several years one readily agrees that whatever our supreme court is it is not what it was intended to be by the men who wrote the Constitution nor those who have fought and sacrificed to preserve it.

It is alarming to everyone who is interested in preserving our form of government to see the supreme court, once a sturdy, intelligent watchdog become an ill-tempered, yelping lap-dog.

The founding fathers of this nation knew—and their point has been proved by the present as well as the past—that without proper checks and balance a government becomes tyrannical.

If the legislative branch takes over we have a tyranny; if the executive department becomes supreme then we have tyranny in the form of a dictator; if the courts become all powerful then we would have a tyranny of gobbledygook and abstractions that in due time would drive everyone but the courts and the lawyers, stark, raving mad.

Checks and balances are imperative in a government if freedom is to prevail but we are losing ours. The advocates of the big, all-powerful state, whether it be thru socialism, communism or facism, apparently are gaining ground.

Thru their peachments and propagando we are being weaned away from responsibility for family or local government and exhorted to put our trust, ourselves into the hands of a set of lump-headed intellectuals and bureaucrats.

In our mind the most dangerous thing about the Girard is the fact that the new reports describe the supreme court's decision as "a victory for the Administration." The Associated Press is made up of newsmen who are intelligent beings, trained in their jobs and schooled in the belief that facts, and only facts, shall prevail. Those on the Washington scene know their way around. They have no cutlery to sharpen. When they say the court's decision was "a victory for the Administration," you can take that as a fact.

And that being a fact the implication is plain—the Administration, which thru patronage and other favors, practically owns congress, now has the supreme court in its pocket.

When the highest court in the land listens to the wishes of either of the other two branches of government before making a decision, or when the high tribunal turns its back on the law and turns to economists and so-called experts on social matters for guidance, then it is time that the public does something about it before it is too late.

Perhaps the best thing for us to do would be to amend the constitution so that all the federal judges are elected by popular vote. The system of appointing judges has been urged on the theory that a man appointed to a job for life—as long as he behaves himself—is not under obligation to anyone and therefore is in a better position to be impartial in his judicial acts.

The appointed judges may not be under obligations to the voters but they certainly are under obligation to the political boss or the party chiefs who recommended them for the jobs, and no doubt they also feel some obligation to the President who makes the appointments. It seems to us, from a practical point of view, that judges would have less to fear by offending the voters than in doing something contrary to the wishes of the persons responsible for their appointments. There are so many voters that it is difficult for them to get together and reach a decision, whereas the patrons of the judges are so few that it is no trick for them to get together for a rug-jerking session.

Amending the constitution is a long drawn-out business so perhaps the best method to employ now would be impeachment.

The supreme court is made up of mediocre men for the most part who have had no practical experience in the law or in trial work and but for political connections and luck would be living in obscurity. It has been the habit of administrations in the past couple of decades to take care of lame-ducks or get rid of ambitious rivals thru appointments to the bench or diplomatic posts.

Franklin Roosevelt appointed some dillies to the bench during his terms of office and President Eisenhower has made some equally bad choices. The Roosevelt cripp and the Eisenhower crop have joined forces and could be called the free-wheeling — new-dealing-vest-pocket modern-Republicans.

There were plenty of people who were disgusted with President Truman's Administration and its many scandals but there is one thing that they must give him credit for—the judges he named to the supreme court have been better than those named by F.D.R. and Ike.

Truman once referred to Stalin as "good old Joe," but the judges he put on the supreme bench did not join with their colleagues in beaming approval on the Reds—Russian and U.S.—and opening the door for most criminals to escape penalty for their acts. They did join, however, in tossing an American soldier to the wolves at the behest of the Administration. The G.I. so callously repudiated by his government is William S. Girard, of Ottawa, Ill., whom the Japanese insist upon trying for the death of a Japanese woman, shot while trespassing upon a firing range used by U.S. troops. Girard was on duty at the time. He says the shooting was an accident.

Now the Administration apparently contends Girard was not on duty because a part of its argument for giving Girard to the Japanese is that if the agreements under which Americans overseas may be tried in foreign courts for off-duty acts are cancelled, U.S. forces would have to come home.

Lower federal courts and many representatives and senators in Congress contend that the Constitution goes with G.I.'s overseas but the Administration and supreme court says, "NO."

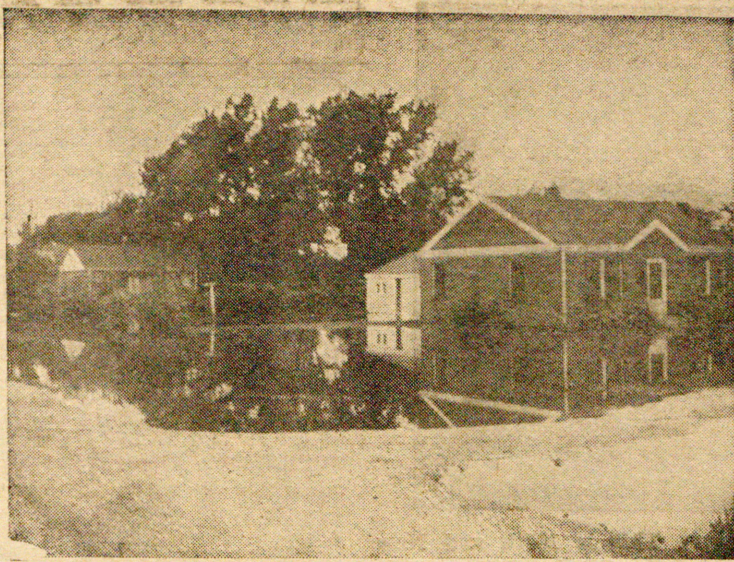

A fine kettle of fish, indeed.

LICENSING SPEECH

The right to express one's opinions through advertising and other means, without undue or unusual restrictions or penalties certainly is a fundamental right in a free country. It is inextricably tied-in with the Constitutional rights of free speech and free press.

Yet that right now seems to be in danger.

This danger comes from recent announcements made by the Federal Power Commission and the Internal Revenue Service. It concerns 59 electric utilities which have used "opinion" advertising and pamphlets to oppose socialization of their industry, and to present the private enterprise side of the public-vs-private power issue. The FPC now holds that these companies improperly charged the advertising and pamphlets to operating expense. The IRS adds that the cost of the advertising and pamphlets is not an allowable deduction for tax purposes.

M. S. Rukeyser, the International New Service commentator says: "These seemingly innocuous Washington are not only intent at the roots of our American competitive system, which rests on cultivation of a free market in ideas and ideologies." Editor & Publisher says: "It strikes us that this is a two-pronged assault to eliminate eventually the use of advertising to express an opinion or a political philosophy." And Robert U. Brown, writing in a later issue of the same magazine, says: "It seems to us that some people in on imposing a tax on published opinions—but also are treading dangerously close to licensing speech and the printing press."

The precedent the FPC and IRS are establishing—if allowed to stand—is staggering. Unfit, any group in power could restrict and in many cases prevent expression of opinion by any opposing group, on questions of economics, politics or anything else. That is one of the ways dictatorships are created.

"Oh, for an electronic analyzer of cross currents, a precipitator of knowledge out of complexity!" This plaintive wish is voiced by J. A. Livingston, the widely syndicated writer on business and financial affairs. It comes from the fact that there are opposed and contrary trends in the American economy today that make forecasting even in the near future a delicate and risky undertaking.

For instance, the U. S. Treasury has found it necessary to pay an interest rate approaching 4 per cent—and some treasury bonds are now quoted at 85 cents on the dollar. There has been a drop in factory workers' pay, because of a decline in hours worked weekly, and the Federal Reserve Index of production slipped 4 points between December and May. Do such developments, Mr. Livingston asks, indicate that "this is the beginning of the end of the long, long boom?"

Then he cites other facts, pointing in a very different direction. Some companies report major sales gains this year, and personal incomes have been rising. So another question arises: "Is this a portent of a consumer-spending splurge later in the year?"

His own view is optimistic—that "the country is on the threshold of another upsurge in consumer spending; that the two-year drop in housing and automobile sales will come to an end this year and forerun a rise in 1958; that stocks are buoyed by business prospects."

Other authorities also find plenty of "cross currents" and differences to debate about. For instance, in a recent talk before a meeting of the National Citizens Committee to Curb Inflation, Senator Byrd of Virginia said that "inflation is threatening our national life." The Senator, who is one of the strongest advocates of economy in Congress, blames inflationary forces principally on government economist in the Truman pates that prices will continue to rise, but at a slower rate than in 1956, and that the budget will show a surplus.

It should be added that some respected forecasters are not so certain. As the old carnival shell-and-pea game spiels used to say, "You pays your money and you takes your choice." That is true in principle of economic forecasts.

In Memoriam

DEADMORE, Hugh H.- In loving memory of my husband who passed away 3 years ago July 17. Gone is the face we loved so dear

Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away for sight or speech
But, not to far for thought to reach.

Your Loving Wife

STELTER, Ernest. -In memory of our husband, father, and grandfather, who passed away four years ago July 7.

What would we give his hand to clasp,
His patient face to see.
To hear his voice, to see his smile,
As in days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife.
And clasp each others hand once more,
At home in Heaven together again.

Mrs. Jeffries Files Suit Against Local Tavern for $80,000

Because her husband, Billie L. Jeffries, 26, Lincoln Estates, is serving a sentence in prison Mrs. Shirley Jeffries of the same community, and her three minor children have filed suit in the Will County Circuit court for $80,000 under the dram shop act.

Mrs. Jeffries and her sons, William Eldon, 3½; Dennis Lee, 2 and Michael Dean, 16 months, charge that they have been deprived of their support since their husband and father was sentenced last fall to 30 years in the Illinois State penitentiary.

Mrs. Jeffries and her three children are asking $20,000 each from Gladys and Tom Fordonski, operators of the G. & T. Tap route 30 at Lincoln Estates. Mrs. Jeffries charges that her husband, Billie Jeffries, was served intoxicating liquors in the tavern prior to the offense for which he was sentenced.

The suit was filed thru the law firm of Schenk and Dimas and Attorney Edwin M. Brown.

Escapes Injury When Run Over By Hay Wagon

Tony Ledeman, 16, a migrant worker from Texas, who was working on the Richard Been farm east of Mokena last Thursday morning, was run over by a hay wagon but escaped injury.

He was helping Mr. Been unload hay at the barn and was sitting on the wagon that was hitched to a tractor. When Mr. Been put the tractor in motion the youth apparently slid off the wagon and under the wheels. One of the wheels passed over both his legs.

Been took the youth to the Hedges clinic at Frankfort where an examination including X-ray failed to reveal any injuries.

ages of 16 and 25, have lived on a dairy farm and be available for tours from October 1957 to 1958.

On Aug. 11, Miss Walker will model a formal and a street dress, in the Leland hotel, at Springfield, in the Dairy Princess contest. The winner will preside over the Springfield fair.

She will also receive a cash prize of $100 and an additional $200 for a wardrobe to be worn on the tour.

Miss Walker is sponsored by the Lincoln-Way Future Homemakers of America and will be accompanied by Mrs. A. Hunter Chapman at all appearances.

Vandals Attack Frankfort Depot

The latest and third attack of vandalism at the Frankfort depot is being investigated by railroad and county officials.

The most recent vandalism occurred some time during the night of July 15. Entry was made by breaking thru a north window. Contents of the office were rifled, desks were broken open and the depot left in a state of disrepair.

The robbery was discovered by section foreman Howell early in the morning before Mrs. Jane Slack reported for duty.

FAMILIES EVACUATED — to the home. A washing machine in the basement was destroyed and clothes hanging on lines are a total loss, Mrs. Diagelo said.

The basement of St. John's church also had two feet of water in the basement.

Travelers Stranded

Travelers, confused by detours on route 45, came into Mokena and were stranded when they could not get thru. They were housed in the Park View Baptist church overnight. Mr. and Mrs. "Doc" White served coffee and hot meals to the stranded travelers, which was supplied by the Red Cross. All of them were headed south when detoured on route 45 because the viaduct under the Rock Island tracks was flooded.

Water gushing from the Yunker slough was responsible for the flooding of many basements in that locality, it was stated.

On Hiwatha blvd., the Bert Janner, George Siegel, and Fred Steinhagen homes had up to four feet of water in basements and surrounding their homes.

Janner, who is an assistant Boy Scout leader, was at the Morris reservation with a group of scouts during the storm.

Electricity power went off at 3 a.m. and was out for three hours, putting sump pumps out of commission during that time.

Ray Westlund, Mokena police marshal, A. S. Duncan, Dennis Ronan, Henry Koenig, director of civil defense, Mayor Marti, and members of the Village board worked to evacuate families early Saturday morning. They and other volunteers were rendering what assistance they could in the emergency thru the day.

A sewage system for Mokena, which will be undertaken in the near future, will greatly alleviate flooding conditions, officials said.

The system has been planned so that basements will be drained into sewers.

a month for both water and sewer service."

Freedom from Worry

Officials point out that a sewer system is expected to increase the value of real estate; prevent the flooding of basements and provide elimination of a health hazard, freedom from maintenance now entailed by the use of septic tanks, and bring peace of mind to the householder. He will no longer have to worry about water use exceeding the capacity of a septic tank and whether surface water represents a source of contagion to residents thru the presence of raw sewage. Persons also can use automatic washers and garbage disposal units without fear of maintenance problems.

communities that are without proper sewage disposal facilities, it was pointed out.

There are approximately 410 persons who will make connections with the sewer system, the figure show, and it is expected the number will increase. Total cost of the improvement is expected to be about $430,000.

WORST STORM—

View Baptist church until the waters receded.

The basement walls and first floor of one Mokena home collapsed from the onslaught of water, which reached the first floor. Electrical power was down for three hours, putting sump pumps out of commission.

Rural and urban areas alike suffered from flood damage. At the Lloyd Campbell farm, just north of Marley, 30 sheep were swept down Marley Creek and drowned. The Wabash track was washed out between Wolf rd. and 179th st., south of route 6.

Engine Disappears

The tragic event of the storm were mingled with incongruous incidents. The Wabash railroad lost an engine somewhere in the vicinity of Marley. A crew of railroad workers were unable to locate it.

Farmers in the rural communities suffered loss of livestock, but their most serious loss is valuable top soil carried away by the rushing waters. Many crops were lost when beat down to the ground and immersed in water.

A record for floods was set at New Lenox one of the communities most seriously affected.

The New Lenox Lumber and Hardware company was left standing in a sea of water which rose to three feet, covering the entire first floor of the building. Stocks of lumber were carried away and floated down stream.

Glen Vally, who is manager of the lumber company's Mokena branch and owns 40 acres on Cooper street where he has many show horses and raises cattle, as yet is unable to determine the amount of his loss. Ten feeder cows, horses, and two burros were floating around in the water. With the assistance of friends on horseback, they were able to round up the animals. Feed, hay and farm equipment are a total loss.

John Matasovic, of Mokena, owner of the Universal Welding Supply, New Lenox, estimates losses to his equipment and building between $20,000 and $25,000.

A pile of corn cobs from a farmer's field in New Lenox, acted as a dam on route 30, holding back flood waters. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bormet found their automobile surrounded by the floating cobs, one-quarter of a mile from New Lenox.

Tinley Park had many flooded areas and basements, but it was not necessary to evacuate any families.

The basement of the Methodist church suffered most damage when waters rose four feet in the basement. Other areas most seriously affected by the flood waters was 167th and New England ave., and some Parkside streets. The south side of town also had some flooded streets.

One Tinley couple had to abandon their car when it became stalled three blocks from their home, and wade the remainder of the way.

Some of the homes which have their own wells had water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink, when pumps in basements were knocked out. In some cases, they were without water for two days until pump were put back in service.

Thousand Stranded

Hours after the end of the downpour, some 30,000 telephones were still out of service in Chicago.

All flights were halted at Midway Airport when runways had one to two feet of water. Some 1,000 persons were stranded in waiting rooms.

In Joliet, police rescued three members of a family trapped on the roof of their auto after swirling waters had flooded its interior. Motor boats had to be used to rescue flood victims because of the swift current.

Public Service of Northern Illinois called in emergency crews from as far away as Milwaukee, Decatur, Springfield, and Indianapolis to repair downed wires and other storm damage.

In Harvey, flood water in nearby streets broke thru the basement windows of Ingalls Memorial hospital and rose 9 feet to the ceiling. All of the patients were evacuated.

The driving thunderstorms abetted by wind gusts and lightning bolts was responsible for damage in all area suburbs. There were power failures, home floods and wind-caused damage to property also reported in Blue Island, Riverdale, Dolton, Calumet City, Chicago Heights, Park Forest, and Midlothian. Some sections of Hammond and the Indiana Toll road were without power.

CLINTON DAVIDSON

Current efforts to destroy the farm program reminds us of the story about the farmer who burned his barn to get rid of the rats.

Almost everyone, it seems is "against" the present farm program. Few farmers like it, the Secretary of Agriculture doesn't like it, and many city critics want to do away with it entirely.

There are legitimate complaints against the farm program as now drawn by Congress and operated by the Department of Agriculture. There can be no denying that the program has many faults.

It is costly. Congress since 1950 has appropriated nearly $20 billion to operate a program that includes large payments to farmers and huge subsidies for export of surpluses.

The program has not stopped over-production and the build-up of surpluses. It has not halted the 7-year decline in farm prices and income.

It has put the government deeply into the business of managing both farming and farmers. There are hundreds of farm laws and more than 100 thousand government agents supervising farm production and marketing.

But, to repeal all farm program laws to get rid of the faults makes no more sense than burning the barn to destroy the rats. That would be an admission of complete failure.

The farm program has faults, but it hasn't been a complete failure. It helped farmers weather the depression 30s and prepare for the big production increases vitally necessary in World War II and immediately afterward.

The fault is that we haven't made the necessary changes to meet changing conditions since 1952. We have clung blindly to old programs that no longer apply to changes in production methods, and in market demand.

The government, on one hand has forced reduction in crop acres, and on the other has taught farmers how to produce more per acre. It has supported prices of some products, and not others. It has paid farmers for not farming as well as they had been taught how.

The problem now is how to strengthen the farm program to make it apply to modern conditions, not repeal of all farm laws. To do so would bankrupt most farmers without helping city consumers. Merchants who buy from and sell to farmers could not survive.

There seems to be a wide-spread smear campaign aimed at convincing the country that (1) farmers are getting rich off the government; and that (2) consumers pay twice for their food, once in the market and again on their tax bill.

The facts are: Farmers' income averages less than half of the average city worker's; farm income is down 33% in five years, but city income is up 21% farm income per hour averages 70c, but factory workers earn an average of $1.95 an hour.

The farm program has benefited city consumers far more than it has farmers. It has encouraged abundant production, resulting in a 22% decrease in farm selling prices since 1952, despite a 17% increase in farm operating costs. Consumers, according to the Department of Labor, pay less for their food than in 1952. Middlemen have increased their charges by 20%.

Profits Vital to Industrial and Economic Life of U.S. Says Mason

By Congressman N. M. MASON

The British economist, Lord Keynes, sold President Roosevelt his socialist money philosophy and his centralized government monopoly program. His philosophy permeates the federal government today and also dominates the economic teaching in the majority of our centers of higher education. Lord Keynes' socialist philosophy, however, has never penetrated or been adopted by American businessmen. In fact, American business gives the lie to the Keynesian economic philosophy.

Reproduction and replacement are vital processes in our economic life as well as in human life. Reproduction of the species is the most vital principle of life. This basic principle applies equally to economic production. Workers grow old, retire, and new ones must be trained for replacement. Managers grow old and must be replaced. Even customers die or move away and replacements must be found if products are to be sold. In the same way factories and machinery wear out or become obsolete and must be replaced by new. This reproduction or replacement can only be made from the profits of industry. No profits, no replacement. No replacement, no jobs. No jobs, no family income, etc. So—profits are vital to American industrial and economic life.

The philosophy of Keynes and Marx does not take into consideration the vital part profit plays in our capitalistic system. If they had their way, they would have everyone employed by the government and all profit abolished—just the situation that is prevalent in Russia today.

America became great—the leading nation of the world, the nation with the highest standard of living, the nation with the greatest personal freedom—thru private enterprise based upon the profit motive. Shall we now discard the very principle upon which our greatness is founded?

The Postal Deficit

There is a considerable misunderstanding about the deficits which exist in various classes of mail service. Many people have inquired about it. Here is the report from the house post office committee:

Classes of Mail Deficits
1st Class $346,170,393
2nd Class 101,659,647
3rd Class 103,629,001
4th Class 48,454,097

$604,913,218

Proposed increases would wipe out the deficits.

Civil Rights Bill

The house passed the Civil Rights bill by a substantial majority. It was a political effort to gain the support of colored people at election time. An effort to insert an amendment to provide for jury trials was defeated, yet supporters of the bill admitted the offense under the law was, in effect, a criminal action.

The right of trial by jury in a criminal proceeding is a sacred one under the constitution. The right of colored people to vote is also a sacred right under our constitution. If this bill becomes law, the real danger is that it will establish another federal agency that might well become a huge bureaucratic snooper—an agency that will possess powers to investigate all kinds of charges, real or fictional. The writer opposes the further growth and encroachment of the federal bureaucracy into the lives of our people, and on that ground he could not vote for the bill. It was a choice between the right to vote and the right of trial by jury. A vote for the bill would have been a violation of the writer's oath of office to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States. That I refused to do.

Coal tows on inland U. S. waters frequently extend for as much as 1,170 feet, a length greater than that of the ocean liner Queen Elizabeth which is 1,031 feet long.

Sorry if This Takes Joy Out Of Motoring

Do you know how much it actually costs you to run your car?

Motorists can find out from new statistics released by the Chicago Motor Club. The firm of R. E. Runzheimer and company, Chicago, compiled them to provide a national average. Two categories were set up: variable costs, related to the number of miles driven, how hard the car is used, and amount spent on service and repair; and fixed costs, including insurance, taxes and depreciation.

The national averages are $1.74 per day ($635 a year) for fixed costs and 3.69 cents per mile for gas, oil, tires and maintenance. These figures apply to cars driven less than 18,000 miles a year, and are based on the lighter models.

Variable Costs

Gasoline and oil 2.42 cts.
Maintenance74 cts.
Tires53 cts.
Total variable costs 3.69 cts.

Fixed Costs

Fire and theft ins. $16.43
Property dam. & liab. 86.92
License and registration 17.69
Depreciation 514.00
Total fixed costs $635.00

Lincoln-Way Office Is Busy Place In Summer

During the summer months preparation for the coming year keeps the office at Lincoln-Way the busy place it is known to be from September to May. Mrs. Kenneth O. Jordan, the former Mary Don Butzback and Mrs. Beverly Elliott are the secretaries at the High School. Miss Margaret Gentry, a business education teacher at Lincoln-Way, is employed also this summer in the school office.

At the close of every school year annual reports must be made and filed with various state and county officials. Transportation and attendance are two of these reports.

The tentative 1957-58 school budget, showing estimated receipts and appropriations for departments and other supplies, is being prepared by the administration and will soon be presented to the public after final approval by the Board of Education.

As the school enrollment increases, so must the faculty, and therefore several additional teachers must be hired each year. Six new teachers have been employed at Lincoln-Way for the coming year.

In the second semester, students begin working on tentative classes for the following year. From the resulting increases in class enrollments and new courses to be offered, the teachers submit lists of books needed to the office. Early in the summer, book orders derived from these lists are sent to the publishing companies so that delivery will be assured by September. Classroom supplies are also ordered at this time.

From May throughout the summer, many employers inquire from the high school office about prospective employees. Recommendations from a student's high school record often determine success or failure in obtaining a job. Work permits are also granted for those persons under 18 who desire to be employed.

For those seniors who plan to further their education in college and universities, transcripts of grades and letters of recommendation are usually requested from those institutions.

Posting final grades for each student in high school constitutes a major job during the summer. Credits in the courses must be checked carefully in order to determine class status.

During the summer months existing handbooks are revised and occasionally new ones are written. These must be typed and organized. The guidance guide book, student handbook and faculty handbook are carefully checked for corrections, additions or deletions before they are assembled for the coming year.

ing year.

Registration for classes required and also desired involves many weeks in preparation. Each student begins his tentative plans in the second semester and the final schedules are made in the summer. Very often individuals have class conflicts and must be contacted personally in order to determine final schedules. Registration requires the assigning of classes to the teachers, classes to the hours in the day and students to sections of the classes.

Business and Finance

Maurice P. Angland

From figures published by the United States census bureau, it can readily be established that a college education is one of the best investments. On the average a college graduate can expect to make about $100,000 more during his lifetime than a person who has only a high school education. This means that for each year in college there is a potential return of $25,000.

The value of higher education is recognized by most people. Parents plan to accumulate funds to at least partially cover costs of college training for their children, but the constantly shrinking value of the dollar purchasing power has forced an increase in college tuition charges as well as costs of books, board and room, etc. Those parents who started their college fund savings ten years ago thru the purchase of government bonds or fixed dollar savings as endowment policies, savings accounts, etc. now find that thru erosion of purchasing power of the dollar, that these savings are not adequate.

Ten years ago the average student at a state university spent about $200 per college year for books and tuition fees. His living expenses were another $800 or a total of $1,000. Today this total sum required for a school year is about $1,500.

Costs of Education Grow

This creeping inflation over the years, has taken an extra bite out of those parents making an effort to plan for taking care of junior's college education.

Parents planning for future education of their children must take into account the erosion of dollar purchasing power. On the basis of present conditions and trends, there is no reason to assume that the erosion of dollar purchasing power will not continue at the same rate it has during the past ten years. Much is being said of slowing down the rate of purchasing power erosion, but little of a concrete nature is being done.

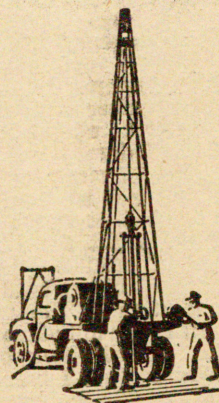

To actually control this erosion, will require action by the government that will be misunderstood by many and will pinch parts of the industrial activity as the inflationary processes cannot be controlled without pain. Naturally the process will have many political repercussions. It is sometimes doubtful if the average person wants to stop the erosion of the dollar. It seems that many are in favor of higher prices for their own goods and services and lower prices for the goods and services of their suppliers.

Mutual Funds a Solution

Common stocks, representing as they do the production and distribution machinery as well as inventories of commodities, have usually followed the erosion of dollar purchasing power, by increase in dollar value of their properties and goods.

Parents with savings plans for college education of their children, will find mutual funds offer an opportunity to accumulate comparatively small sums at regular intervals, in the leading corporations of the country. The common stocks owned by the better grade mutual funds are purchased on advice of trained professional investment management. The top common stock mutual funds, have proven over a number of years that they can and have been able to compensate for erosion of purchasing power of the dollar.

Eight members and three guests attended the Busy Hour 4-H club meeting July 10 in the home of Miss Carol Peterson. The meeting opened with the 4-H pledge, and routine business reports were given. Judith Twen gave a brief talk on the week she spent at 4-H camp. Sena VanBorg talked on "Why She Chose the Material For Her Skirt." Carol Peterson demonstrated how to measure liquids and dry ingredients.

The girls all attended the clothing clinic at Haven school July 11. The next meeting will be held July 22, in the Schmuhl school at 7 p. m. The meeting adjourned. Refreshments were served by Carol Peterson.

Carolyn Taylor, Judith Owen, Millicent Halik and Barbara Taylor have returned from 4H Camp Shaw-waw-nas-see near Kankakee, where they spent a week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stalter from Trivola, spent the week end with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wright and family. Steve and Jeff Wright returned home after spending two weeks vacationing on the farm with their grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Dare and family of Benment are vacationing this week with Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Taylor and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Kalmer have as their guests this week, her aunt, Mrs. Mary LeFever, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crone and son, of York Pa.

Cub scout pack 41 of Lincolnwood met Saturday afternoon in the home of their den mother, Mrs. Richard Pokorny. The boys are still working on their Indian jackets. They were given magic tricks to practice, for coming pack meeting to be held July 30.

Mrs. Frank Benedict and son, and Mrs. Richard Pokorny and sons spent Thursday at River-view Park in Chicago.

Sandra and Ralph Oldt, Jr., have returned from Miami, Fla., where they spent three weeks vacationing with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson.

Major Clare Newman is at Ft. Benjamin Harrison near Indianapolis, Ind., where he is attending summer camp for two weeks with the army reserves.

Dolores and Sandy Kooyenga, and Betty Jane Malloy are attending a camp at Round Lake this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Newman and sons Mike and Jeff enjoyed a two week camping trip at Fish creek, in northern Wis.

Diving takes skill and caution, warns the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Ins. Co. First find out whether the water is deep enough and whether hidden rocks, submerged crags and sand bars are lurking beneath the surface to produce a hazardous diving area.

ORLAND PARK

Mrs. Sherman Knox
Orland Park: FTeldbrook 9-0211

The Day circle of the WSCS Orland Park Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Lester Sayers Friday, July 18. A potluck dinner will be served at noon, if weather permits, out doors.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farr and daughter Rita enjoyed a 2 weeks vacation trip at Estes Park, Colo. where they spent one week and then motored to Southern Colorado where they toured Central City, an old mining town, then on to the Ozarks. While at the Ozarks Rita had the misfortune of tearing the ligaments of her small toe while swimming in a floating swimming pool. When she dived in the shallow water her foot wedged between some boards. Several stitches were required. This happened the day before they planned to return home. Since being home, the stitches have been removed and Rita is able to walk on the injured foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Oranger are being congratulated on the arrival of their first grandchild a girl, July 8 in Silver Cross hospital, Joliet. She weighed 6 pounds and has been named Lora Lee. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Doss.

Warren Ahnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ahnell was home on a furlough after completing his basic training at Ft. Carson, Colo. He left July 12 for an 8 week course in the medical corps at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas.

The following members of the Thursday Bunco club, Mrs. James Gray, Mrs. Andrew Bueschel and Mrs. Dick Knoll of Orland Park, Mrs. Gene Gillis of Mokena, Mrs. John Cole, Mrs. John Criuse and Mrs. Ed. McCarthy of Tinley Park and their children enjoyed an outing July 11. In the morning they stopped at the home of Mrs.

Criuse for breakfast. The rest of the day was spent at the Andrew Corp. grove, where they had a picnic.

Mrs. William Duehr underwent an eye surgery last week at St. Francis hospital, Blue Island. From last reports she is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sajeck and Mr. and Mrs. Gust Oelke enjoyed Sunday dinner at Honey Bear Farm in Genoa City, Wis. Enroute home they stopped to visit Mrs. William Jacobson at Capron, Mrs. Jacobson and family resided in Orland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yunker and son Walter Jr., spent a week's vacation at Eagle River, Wis. fishing, but it was too windy and cold for any good fishing. They spent another week at the Deer Forest, Coloma, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yunker, Mrs. James Gray and daughters Patty and Terry, and Mrs. Arthur Oaks and son David spent a day last week at Silver Beach at Benton Harbor, Mich.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barr in Hazel Crest hospital, June 28. He weighed eight pounds, seven ounces and has been named Ronald Alan. He was welcomed home by his brothers Norman, David and Donald and sister Diane and by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Martz, 135th st. and 88th ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kelsey, daughter Claudia and sons Joel and Richard enjoyed a 10 day vacation with relatives and friends in the Marinette, Wis. area. Richard is extending his vacation by staying longer with his grandparents.

Be sure you know the limits of your swimming ability and do not exceed them, warns the Institute for Safer Living. At least 7,000 persons will die across the nation this summer as the result of accidental drowning. Observe common sense rules for swimming safety.

A handful of common sense is worth a bushell of learning.

THE NEWS-BULLETIN
Mokena, Illinois
Thur. July 18, 1957 Sec. 2 Pg. 3

Ninety per cent of the drownings this summer will occur in unsupervised waters. Use swimming areas that have the protection of life guards whenever possible, advises the Institute for Safer Living.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The ever-availability to humanity of God, the source of all true life and intelligence, will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday, July 21.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" will include the following from Psalms (16:1,11): "Preserve me, O God: for in thee do I put my trust . . . Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness off joy; at they right hand there are pleasures for evermore."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (215:12): "Whatever is governed by God, is never for an instant deprived of the light and might of intelligence and Life."

The Golden Text is from Romans (6:23): "The gift of God is eternal life thru Jesus Christ our Lord."

Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid Picnic On Aug. 7

The annual picnic of the Tin-ley Park Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid, will be held Aug. 7, in the Tinley Creek woods. Members will meet at the church at noon, then travel to the picnic grounds.

Tinley Police Hold 6th Annual Dance Saturday, Aug. 31

The Tinley Park 6th annual police dance will be held in Saenger hall, Saturday, Aug. 31.

Proceeds from the dance are used to purchase equipment for the department and uniforms for the reserve police.

Members of the police department will shortly call on Tin-ley citizens selling tickets for the dance.

Judges Take Tough Cases to Highest Court

By James Saxon Childers, former editor of the Atlanta Journal.

(Paulist Feature Service)
On Oct. 14, 1949, one of the longest and most bitterly contested trials in the annals of U.
S. judicial history was concluded.

In the U. S. district court for the southern district of New York, after several hours of deliberation, a jury of eight women and four men found eleven members of the Communist party guilty under the Smith Act of 1940.

The story of those harrowing months of trial has been told many times. Clever defense attorneys pulled every trick in the books to delay the trial and harrass the judge. But recently Judge Harold R. Medina, the judge who presided at the celebrated trial, has added to the story.

Needed Help

"During the trial," Judge Medina said, "every effort was made to break my spirit and break my mind. The time came, one afternoon, when I weakened. Sitting there on the bench, I felt I couldn't go on. I was sick and exhausted. I admitted that I was unwell and I recessed the court for a short time.

"It was easy to see how the Communists and their lawyers received the news. I could almost hear them say: 'Now, at last, we've broken him. We've got him.'"

"And maybe they did have me, so long as I was alone. But I went into my small room and I took my case to a higher court.

I made my plea, asking for strength beyond my strength, for wisdom beyond my own.

Prayer an Aid

"And my prayer was answered. I went back into the courtroom with certainty that I could do my job. Neither the Communists nor their lawyers disturbed me; only the law and justice were my concern."

Judge Medina said that he told this story a time or two,
and it became well known.
Then he said, "I travelled over the country, and repeatedly, judges came to me and told of praying before they went into court. Other judges told of entering their court rooms with prayer on their lips. All were asking for courage and clarity.

"And I say to you, that where ever the spirit of God is in your courtrooms, we need have no doubt that there, too, are justice and persistent mercy."

Suburbs Vote Republican and Against Bonds

(CNS)--Five southwest townships--Stickney, Worth, Palos, Lemont and Orland--in the June 3 election trounced all county bond issues totaling $29,700,000, according to the official canvass released by County Clerk Edward J. Barrett.
Bremen township voters approved only one issue, rehabilitation of the Oak Forest Old Peoples Home.

The total suburban vote had the same outcome, the canvass showed, but the bond issues were approved countywide because of the comparatively big vote in Chicago.

The last fact also accounted for the Democratic party's sweep of three contested judicial races for circuit court. Only 3 of 28 suburban townships under the jurisdiction of the county clerk's office turned in majorities for all the Democrats.
They were Bremen, Lemont and Thornton.

The others ended up in the Republican column as usual, ranging from the close margin of 9 to 8 in Niles township to 33-7 in New Trier township.

Democrats elected to the Circuit court bench were Harry M. Fisher, Thomas J. Courtney, and Thomas C. Donovan. For Judges Fisher and Courtney it was a case of re-election. The Republican opponents were William P. Mannion, Geoffrey Fleming and Harry S. Stark.

Republican candidates for the contested judicial posts carried Stickney, Worth, Palos and Orland townships.

Heading the list of county bond issues was the $12,800,000 County hospital issue which will go largely for remodeling the main hospital at an estimated cost of $5,715,000, and construction of a new out patient clinic at a cost of $3.5.

The other issues included:
$9,600,000 for rehabilitation of the Oak Forest Old Peoples

Cooling Hot Weather Tips

For the job-bound who can't get to the ocean, lake or pool during heat waves, here are some practical cool-off tips for the family.

Dunk hot, swollen feet in a basin of cool water to which you add a couple of tablespoons of baking soda. Swelling wanes and pep returns. If watching the pooch pant makes you wilt, give him the same treatment—if he's the cooperative type. Since he perspires through his pads as well as his tongue, cool paws will make him a cooler pup.

For that all-over, hot, sticky feeling, climb into a tub of cool water spiked with a half pound of baking soda. It's a real refresher. And you'll be getting practically the same treatment you'd get at the famous spas—for spas and soda contain similar properties. The cool soda bath also relieves the soreness of vacation and week-end sunburns. Don't scrub, as that further irritates already tender skin, and since soda is a mild detergent as well as a mild alkali, you come clean just soaking.

If baby has prickly heat, a sponging of affected areas from time to time with a quart of cool water plus four teaspoons of soda soothes.

to use the guides only as suggestions and to formulate their own if the material does not meet specific needs.

A Variety of Topics

Included in the list of topics of most interest to Lincoln-Way students are: rules for basketball, football, etc.; the sportsmanship code; athletic conference rules, membership and activities; student council, its activities, responsibilities and membership; courtesy and safety; social and club activities and summer recreation. Discussions about future plans will deal with the relation between interests and occupations, employer expectations, how to get the job you want and be successful.

Also, the counselors have included information about aptitude and interest tests as well as suggestions for study habits and taking tests.

Students will be encouraged to follow these general discussions with conferences with the counselors for individual help.

It is hoped that the guidebook will be an additional contribution to the outstanding guidance group at Lincoln-Way. Last year the school was selected by the state office of public instruction as having one of the outstanding programs in the state and was subsequently invited to report to the U. S. of fice of education on the in-service training of faculty and students involved in the program. A recent letter from that office stated that a study summary of it's nation-wide study of the improvement of guidance services, which included Lincoln-Way's report, will be published this fall.

Will Cost Buck Now to Junk Old Clunker

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier today called motorists' attention to the fact that increases in fees for drivers licenses, original certificates of title or duplicates, and automobile junking certificates are now in effect.

Governor William G. Stratton signed the measures, passed by the recent General Assembly, last week and they became effective last Thursday.

The driver license has been increased from $1 to $3. The additional $2 will be paid into a special fund to help finance high school driver training programs throughout the state.

The fee for an original certificate of title or a duplicate was increased from 50c to $1. Automobile junking certificates, for which there had previously been no charge, will now cost $1.

Secretary Carpentier also said that applications for any of the above which were received by his office prior to the close of business on July 9 will be processed at the old fees. Applicants who forwarded the $3.00 driver license fee prior to that date will receive a refund of $2.00.

Counselors at Lincoln-Way High Plan Lively Guidance Program

While the students of Lincoln-Way are occupied with summer travel, work, study, and vacation, plans for the coming school year are being made by the faculty administrative staff. Various projects and plans in progress will be described in a series of weekly news articles.

One of these projects is a guidebook now being written by Dr. Ralph E. Wright and Mrs. Alice Gorman especially to help Lincoln-Way teachers in the guidance program. Plans for lively and profitable student discussions in the weekly guidance groups are included.

Each student at Lincoln-Way is a member of a guidance group which meets each Wednesday during the twenty-two minute activity period and all faculty members are involved in the program. For the past three years they have met once a week and discussed personal and school problems not covered in the regular courses. The students have helped in planning the meetings and a student steering committee has helped to coordinate them.

Students Participate

Next year, as in the past, many of these discussions will be led by students. However, a "master plan" including the suggested topics and techniques for handling them will be available in the guide at the beginning of the year.

In selecting material, the counselors have chosen topics of vital interest to Lincoln-Way students from lists compiled in the guidance groups over the past three years. The guidebook contains discussion plans and related materials from many sources organized around school and community events. Since interests vary as students mature, guides and materials are divided into freshman, sophomore, junior and senior levels. A guide book for the proper grade level will be made available for each teacher. Each book will contain discussion guides for each of the thirty-six weekly guidance periods, topic to be discussed, suggestions for introducing the topic, techniques and activities for developing the discussion, discussion questions and references and materials. Teachers and groups will be encouraged

TINLEY PARK HOBBY HOUSE

17260 Oak Park Ave. - Tinley Park - KE 2-4243

The school teacher who sparked the first community-wide Spring Clean-Up campaign 47 years ago, Miss Bertha M. Chapman, of Cleveland, Ohio, reminisces with Junior Fire Marshals Linda and Rollie Wells, also of Cleveland. The story of how a good deed by Miss Chapman touched off nationwide observance of Spring Clean-Up is told in the Spring issue of the Junior Fire Marshal magazine, now being distributed to 3,000,000 elementary-age school children. The magazine is part of the year-round Junior Fire Marshal program sponsored as a public service by the Hartford Fire Insurance Company. Now 82 years old and retired, Miss Chapman "accidentally" started Spring Clean-Up Week in 1909 when she presented a blue pinafore to an unkempt little girl in her class at Miles Park School. The child's mother was so impressed, she started tidying up around the house—removing trash and other combustibles. Soon, the neighbors and ultimately thousands of communities followed her example. Junior Fire Marshals are cooperating in Clean-Up campaigns from coast to coast.

So-Called Equalization Property Tax Bills Are Now Laws of Illinois

The 70th general assembly, in that the board will gain "back—a three-part packaged program, ground" before it performs its has set up the machinery for equalizing duties.

the equalization of property tax assessments within a county. Since 1946, the state has equalized between counties by issuing county multipliers. However, because townships assess at various ratios of so-called 100 per cent value, a single county multiplier does not cure internal inequities. For instance if the assessor in township "A" assessed property at 10 per cent of sale value, the assessor in township "B" at 15 per cent, and the assessor in township "C" at 20 per cent, a county multiplier of 4 applied to the assessments of the 3 townships would not bring them up to the same level.

To correct such ills within a county, Senators W. Russell Arrington of Evanston and Merritt J. Little of Aurora and Representative Louis E. Beckman of Kankakee sponsored remedial legislation at the 70th general assembly. The first part of the program (S.B. 446) makes it the mandatory duty of the county board of review to equalize assessments at the township level in the same manner in which the state equalizes at the county level. To protect both taxpayer and taxing body, Representative G. William Horsley of Springfield sponsored an amendment to the bill to provide that assessments of a township may not go up or down by more than 25 per cent of the previous year's equalized valuation, additions and depletions excluded.

More Power to Review Body

Part two of the Arrington-Little program was legislation (S.B. 768) to strengthen the board of review. The two members appointed by the county judge must in the future have experience or training in real estate values and property tax administration. In addition, a full time clerk is provided for the board in counties over 25,000 population to collect and analyze property transfers and property appraisals.

The board of review may meet earlier than the third Monday in June to direct the clerk and go over the data collected by him. This will insure

The third part of the program is (S.B. 545) which extends the permissive supervisor of assessment law to all counties over 150,000 population, except Cook and St. Clair. If this office is established, the state will pay 1/2 of the supervisor's salary.

The new program, with an effective date of Jan. 1, 1958, is a good example of home rule legislation. Assessment is a local responsibility; by passing new laws and strengthening existing ones, the general assembly has provided a solution to a local problem. The solution should work.

Investigate unfamiliar waters before swimming in them, advises the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Ins. Co. If possible, talk with someone who is familiar with your contemplated swimming area. Obey any warning signs posted in the area.

Farmers Can Make Money by Resealing Corn

Farmers can earn 16 cents a bushel in storage payments for resealing their corn under farm-stored loans, Roy M. Smith, chairman of the Will county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee, reminded growers. Both 1956-crop corn under loan and stored on farms and 1955-crop corn under extended reseal loans are eligible for this year's reseal program. Also, purchase agreements on 1956-crop corn may be converted to reseal loans.

"Storage of corn crops on farms for another year is advantageous for both the farmer and the government," Mr. Smith declared. "Farmers have their corn close at hand and they can pay off the loan and use or sell the corn any time they need it or can market it at a profit.

"For the government, resealing the corn means avoiding the purchase of additional bins and the erection of more binsites which would probably be required to store the crop if much of the loan crop were delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation upon maturity of the loans."

In Will county, farmers have 1,422,987 bushels of the 1956 corn crop under farm-stored loans and 53,793 bushels of 1955-crop corn under reseal farm-stored loans. An additional 246,325 bushels of the 1956 crop are under purchase agreements.

Farmers who desire to reseal their 1956-crop corn, convert their 1956-crop purchase agreements into reseal loans, or extend their 1955-crop resealed corn loans should apply at their county ASC office before Sept. 15, 1957. Eligibility requirements for either the 1956-crop reseal or the extension of 1955-crop reseal loans are the same as for the original loan.

The new location of the Will County ASC office is 1256 W. Jefferson st., Joliet.

Sues to Remove Village Ban on Service Station

(CNS) A law suit for authority to erect a gas station at the north west corner of 95th street and Hamlin ave. in Evergreen Park has been filed in circuit court by the Sun Oil Company.

Their attorney, Martin R. Handelman, said the village zoning board of appeals recommended a variation for the gas station, but that the village president and trustees on April 15 denied the application. Handelman called this an "arbitrary" decision and said it deprived his client of their property rights without due process of law.

Named defendants are Village President Joseph H. Tanner and village trustees Louis Brunius, John Leo, Howard Dahl, Willis Fenner, Thomas Mulligan and George Frizie.

The suit says a gas station is located across the street. The plaintiff's property, 100 by 125 feet, is zoned commercial, the suit said.

It contended that this property can earn $5,000 more a year as a gas station than any commercial development put on it. The suit pointed out the property fronts on 95th street, the main thoroughfare in the village.

Who Said Women Can't Drive?

Two happy girls, driver Patricia Jones, right and navigator Elizabeth Brich, celebrate their victory over men in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run. This is the first year that women were allowed to participate in the 4-day 1,568 mile marathon from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, Idaho.

The girls were the first to cross the finish line with their 1957 Dodge and got more miles per gallon than all class winners, excepting an identical car driven by two veteran Economy Run drivers.

De-Emphasis on Speed in Car Ads May Cut Crashes

A "very substantial" reduction in traffic accidents may be advanced many years by the recent decision of the Automobile Manufacturers Association to de-emphasize speed and horsepower in advertising and otherwise promoting the sale of new cars, one of the nation's leading safety specialists declared in New York.

Thomas N. Boate, accident prevention department manager of the Association of Casualty and Surety companies, termed the announcement by the Automobile Manufacturers Association board of directors in Detroit "the most promising action that has occurred in the field of traffic safety in the last decade."

"If the state legislature," Mr. Boate said, "will now make available the necessary funds to put enough policemen on the roads and highways and permit high schools to provide safe driver training courses for all students, it is not too much to hope that the present toll of deaths, injuries and property destruction can be reduced as much as 50 per cent within two years."

Safe But Too Fast

"Traffic safety specialists have always known that the 3 indispensable requirements for traffic safety are education, engineering and enforcement. There never has been any doubt that the automobile industry has been spending unlimited sums of money to build safety into their cars. And the states have been making great progress in building safety into the roads and highways. Unfortunately, however, unless we build safety 'in' to the drivers, too, the first two accomplishments are of little avail."

"The Automobile Manufacturers Association has given tremendous impetus to the forging of that missing link by announcing that it will emphasize safety and service as the most important values to look for in the cars of the future. There is little doubt that this will go far toward convincing the great majority of the drivers of today that speeding and recklessness behind the wheel are wasteful of both time and money, not to mention lives and broken bodies."

Must Get Tough

"There will always remain, however, a minority that will respond to nothing but the strong and ever-present arm of the law. They will be capable of killing and injuring a lot of people and destroying billions of dollars worth of property until every state has enough policemen on the road to arrest them and the courts fit their punishment to the crime of utter disregard for the public safety and welfare."

"To properly patrol our highways would require the addition of only 28,000 men to police and highway patrol forces throughout the nation at a cost of some $224,500,000 annually. Obviously, the sum is small when compared with the $6,642,435,000 known economic loss of accidents. It is evident, then, that providing adequate police protection on our highways would actually cost billions of dollars less than the present cost of accidents."

"Let us halt, therefore, the two important steps that have now been set in motion toward the easily attainable goal of safe roads and highways. But, at the same time, let none of us forget that until those two steps—adequate enforcement authorities and high school level training of future drivers—are taken, the traffic lanes of America will continue to be strewn with the dead and the maimed and appalling amounts of economic waste."

You can completely eliminate your enemies—by making them your friends.

North Suburbs Show Greatest Growth in Non-White Population

(CNS) The greatest suburban growth of non-white population since the 1950 census has been in the suburbs to the north of Chicago, according to figures given in the biennial report of the Illinois Commission on Human Relations for 1957. Out of 28 Chicago Metropolitan Area towns which have recorded an increase of 6,568 non-whites in special censuses held for gas tax purposes, and have over 25 non-whites, twelve are north suburbs and account for 5,386 additional non-whites.

Heading the list are North Chicago, from 835 to 3,343 non-whites in 1955, or 300% increase, while the entire population was rising 95.7% to 16,881; Waukegan, 2,353 to 3,729, or 58.5%, while total went up 19.9% to 46,698; Evanston, 7,134 to 7,832, or 9.8%, while total went up 1.8% to 74,959; and Elgin, 820 to 1,134 or 38.3% in 1956, while total up 7.6% to 47,565.

Eleven west suburban towns had a non-white growth of 621, headed by Aurora with 37.3% rise from 1,182 to 1,623, while total up 12.2% to 56,766.

In the south suburbs, the biggest rise was Markham's, from 67 to 218 in 1955, or 225.4%, while the total rose 43.5%; Park Forest rose from 12 to 97, and Harvey from 1,019 to 1,327, or 30.2%, while total went up 14.7 per cent to 23,714.

On the other hand, Winnetka dropped from 309 to 295 and Oak Park from 147 to 139 as a result of less domestics sleeping at their place of employment, the report concluded.

Will County 4-H Plan Exhibits At Peotone Fair

Mrs. Norman Krapf, reporting for 4-H at the Will County Home Economics Extension Council and Home Bureau executive board's recent meeting, announced that on July 23 and 24 clothing construction judging will be held and Aug. 1 and 2, are 4-H county show days at the Peotone fair grounds.

One third of the Home Bureau units will be asked to furnish pies for Aug. 1 and 2 and the balance of units to provide pies for the 4-H booth at the Peotone Fair Aug. 22-25.

Mrs. Howard Kurkamp, program chairman, said the lesson being given in July by local leaders is "Use of Syndets and Chemical Water Softeners". The lesson on "Guard Your Heart" has been postponed from Aug. 6 to 30th. This lesson will be given by Dr. Theodore E. Polley, prominent physician from Joliet.

Details of the style show to be held Aug. 27, will be announced soon by the board.

Mrs. Edward Berens requested board members to prepare information regarding their offices, duties, etc., to be turned over to their successors.

The next board meeting will be held Aug. 12, in the home of Mrs. Berens, 19 N. Hickory St., Joliet.

The Marley B.Y.F. will be host to the Aurora Association for their picnic Sunday, July 21. The affair is to be held at Haley park. A picnic supper will be served.

1,000 Attend Dinner to Honor Hollingsworth

Approximately 1,000 persons attended the dinner given for Morton Hollingsworth in the American Legion hall at Joliet Wednesday night of last week. It was the largest affair of its kind in the history of Joliet. Hollingsworth is director of finance in the cabinet of Gov. Stratton and also a newly elected member of the Republican national committee.

A realtor in Joliet, Hollingsworth is a comparative freshman in major league politics. He once served a term in the Illinois legislature while Warren Wood, present speaker of the Illinois house, was in the legislature, and a few years ago was elected a member of the Republican state central committee, and almost immediately was named chairman.

He directed the Republican campaigns in Illinois in 1952 and 1956 but has resigned that post to become a member of the Republican national committee.

At the dinner given for Hollingsworth last week party brass was represented by Gov. Stratton and other state officers in person and many others, state and national, sent messages. Among the telegrams received were ones from President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

Warren Wood was toastmaster.

Asked her secret for having lived 100 happy years, an English woman replied, "Never do a day's work; I haven't." She celebrated by an extra 5 hours in bed.

My Neighbors

"It's so peaceful and quiet here in the country!"

Production of coal in America in 1956 was 500,000,000 tons, or enough bituminous to build a wall around the nation 22 feet high and 10 feet thick.

A new plant of the Ohio Power Company uses only 0.65 lbs. of coal to generate one kilowatt-hour of electricity, a far cry from Thomas Edison's first plant, which used 10 pounds of coal to do the same job.

The New Lenox Trinity Lutheran church will hold its annual ice cream social Sunday, July 28 at 7 o'clock on the church lawn. The Walther League and the Womans League are sponsoring the affair. Home made pies and cakes, as well as ice cream, coffee, and pop will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Roman Kassian and children have returned to their home at Toronto, Canada after spending a two weeks vacation with his sister, Dr. and Mrs. Leo Murskyj and family.

Don Anderson is vacationing this week in Lockport with his cousin, Joey Johnson.

Timber of Shady Acres, C.D.X (Danny) parti-color cocker spaniel of Shady Acres Kennels, was picked as best parti-color cocker at Momence, Sunday. The show, given by the Kankakee Kennel club was an all breed show with over 700 dogs shown. E. C. Olsen handled the dog.

Mrs. Lou Tovrog opened her home last Thursday evening to the meeting of the Womans Guild of the Grace Episcopal church. Mrs. Irene Peterson assisted as hostess. Final plans were completed for the carnival to be held on the church grounds Saturday evening, July 20. The next meeting will be held Thursday evening August 8, with Mrs. Betty Orey and Mrs. Doris Book as hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wood and children and Mrs. Etta Wood from Independence, Mo., were week end guests of the Sam Carrs. Mrs. Jack Wood is Mr. Carr's niece.

Cub Scouts of Pack 8, with their families will tour Stateville prison at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday July 23. They will leave the Lions Den at 6 o'clock.

The New Lenox Cardinals 4H club met July 10 with their leader Mrs. James McCure in her home. Marilyn Zusag presided. A discussion was held on the County fair, and on what each girl had to do for each project she was enrolled in. The fair will be held Aug. 2. Those having problems in their sewing were given help by other members. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be Thursday, July 18.

Sheldon J. Hauck left Norfolk, Va. July 6, on a NROTC Midshipman detachment for a summer training cruise, serving on the Destroyer Flagship U.S.S. W. C. Lawe. The 74 young men will return in time to resume their studies at various colleges in the United States this fall. Four Midshipmen from the University of Illinois are on this Destroyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sperling, Sr. and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Koehl, Jr. and three sons, have returned from San Francisco, Cal., where they visited for three weeks with their son Frederick Sperling and his family. They enjoyed the drive along the coast from Tia Juana Mexico, to San Francisco, on the way out, and came home by way of the northern route, thru Utah and Wyoming.

The New Lenox Bluebird 4-H club met July 10 in the Lions Den with their leader Mrs. Ivan Archibald. Mrs. Louis Balbinot, Jr. Mrs. Ted Zusag, and Mrs. John Olsen. Demonstrations were given by Barbara Zusag on making Brownies; Doral Engstrom on making a one egg cake; Judy Termunde on flower arranging; Judy Martin and Betty Dowle on making banana bread, and Judy Balbinot and Janice Thompson demonstrated making oatmeal cookies. The finished skirts were judged. There were 28 girls present. They will meet again July 19 at the den.

Twelve Girl Scouts and two leaders from the Kiwanis troop 591 of Chicago, a Girl Scout troop for the blind, enjoyed an outing here over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Steinbrenner. They had a Weiner roast and marshmallow roast and a campfire community sing Saturday night. Sunday morning they attended church services at the various churches.

Water safety aids from New Lenox who are assisting the Red Cross Free Swim lessons at Nowell pool, Chaney, Wilmington and Braidwood this year are: Leslie Ekedahl and Mike Merfeld, second year aids; and Joan Elliott, Carol Ruthenbeck and Donna Anderson, first year aids.

An advanced first aid class finished a 12 hour course Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ekedahl on Haven avenue. Those finishing the course were: Stanley Ekedahl, Mrs. Leonard Erickson, Mrs. Ernest Hoefer, Mrs. F. J. Romeo, Mrs. Walter Speiss and Walter Speiss. More first aid classes will be started in the fall, as well as a Home Nursing course, with instructions being given by a trained nurse from the Joliet office. Mrs. Stanley Ekedahl will have charge of the First Aid classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Engel and sons Kent and Darold, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller have returned from Jacksonville, Fla. where they enjoyed a two week vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Jess Nelson and daughters. While there they visited many interesting places.

The New Lenox Toastmasters club enjoyed a potluck supper at the William Heidrich home Monday night.

As a special program feature, two of the speakers discussed a very pertinent question, "Is the Police Magistrate of New Lenox getting a Square Deal?" Stanley Gilmore handled the "no" side and Ernest Hoefer handled the "yes" side.

Les Brown was toastmaster for the evening; Bill Heidrich, topicmaster, and speakers were, Ernest Hoefer, Stanley Gilmore, Elias Brown and Kenneth Mills. Earl Moss had the invocation and benediction; John Burlingame, master evaluator; and evaluators were Bill Clark, John Minion, Ken Tauber and John Richison.

The next meeting will be Aug. 12 at Bill Wilson's home near Mokena, and it will be Ladies night.

Saturday night July 20 is the date of the annual carnival sponsored by the Grace Episcopal church of New Lenox. The event will start at 5 pm. with supper being served in the church dining room. Games for all the family will be featured, also the ever popular Parcel Post booth and the Country Store. The carnival will be held on the church grounds at Pine and Hickory streets. The public is invited.

Cedar Lake, Ind. was the destination for 30 members of St. Jude's Hi-Teens when they attended a Mystery Bus Ride Sunday. The group was only notified in advance to be prepared for an outing. After leaving the school at 11:00 a.m. a day of swimming, boating and picnic lunch was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Geneikis and Mr. and Mrs. John Vincent chaperoned the teenagers, who returned to their homes about 9 pm. a happy group.

Worst Storm in 82 Years Hits Area Friday Night

CREEK SPILLS OVER—Hickory Creek at route 45, between Mokena and Frankfort overflowed its banks and spilled over to Art Geuther picnic grove.

FAMILY EVACUATED—The Paul E. Charles family were evacuated from their home located immediately south of Hickory Creek bridge, on the south side of Mokena. The water had receded considerably when this picture was taken. The interior of the home suffered a great deal of damage when water from the overflowing creek gushed in.

CULVERT WASHED OUT—An officer directs traffic one way only when a culvert and shoulder on road was washed out in New Lenox. The scene shown is Lincoln Highway, route 30, on the east side of New Lenox.

WIND FELS TREES—High winds accompanying the raging rainstorm felled trees in Frankfort. David Lewin views scene on Nebraska st., one of Frankfort's main thorofares, where a large tree fell across the home of Frank Mark.

TRAPPED IN VIADUCT—Water under the Rock Island viaduct at route 45, just north of 191st st., had receded to show the tops of cars which had been completely inundated when water rose to a height of 12 feet. Occupants of the cars abandoned them when they became stalled during the big storm last Friday night. Pictured are men from Schilling's Garage, who had just towed one car out of the murky depths. Owner of one of the automobiles which stalled under the viaduct is John Aitutis, of Bedford Park, who was driving north when his car stalled. Occupants of one of the other stalled cars were headed north on a vacation trip from their home in Indiana, accompanied by passengers in another car who wisely did not enter the viaduct. The vacation bound passengers spent the night in a nearby motel.

Chicago Gets $334,739 for Heart Research

Fifty-one Chicago scientists heading research teams in this area have received grants totaling $334,739 from the Heart Fund in support of their studies in the field of the heart and blood vessel diseases during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1957, according to an announcement by Dr. Louis N. Katz, President of the Chicago Heart Association.

Thirty-two of these projects are aided by direct grants from the Chicago Heart Association amounting to $221,119. Nineteen grants, including three Established Investigatorships, five Research Fellowships, and eleven grants-in-aid, amounting to $113,620 have been awarded by the American Heart Association. This means, according to Dr. Katz, that more than 50 per cent of funds regularly provided by the Chicago Heart Association to help support the national heart program are returned to this city to be used in research.

Thirteen of these projects are concerned with studies of arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) and the coronary heart disease, while five more are investigations into the closely related hypertension, or high blood pressure. Eight investigations into varied phases of rheumatic fever are under way, and the remaining twenty-seven projects cover a wide variety of the complex problem of cardiovascular diseases. This work is taking place in Chicago's five great medical schools, Northwestern university leading with eight projects and six of the city's leading hospitals.
